Enclosed is the entry form for the 2020 forage sorghum hybrid performance trials to be conducted by Colorado State University. Colorado State University promotes crop variety testing as a service to Colorado's crop producers who depend on us for unbiased and reliable crop variety performance information to make better sorghum hybrid selection decisions. We take pride in producing results that can be trusted as we maintain high standards for reporting and trial integrity. Results of the trials are published on the Colorado State University Crops Testing website and in the annual Technical Report. The results of the sorghum performance trials conducted in 2019 can be found on-line at <https://csucrops.agsci.colostate.edu/sorghum> along with sorghum performance trials conducted in previous years.

In 2020, there will be two forage sorghum trials: Rocky Ford (limited-irrigation) and Walsh (dryland). The 2020 entry fee the forage sorghum is $380 per entry per trial. A forage nutritional analysis will be done at Dairyland Labs for each entry and will include relative feed value, crude protein, total digestible nutrients, net energy values, acid and neutral detergent fibers, and total digestible nutrients. Other data that will be collected and reported includes forage yield, plant lodging (if applicable), plant height, and stem sugar content.

The attached Excel entry form can be filled out and returned by attaching it to an email to sally.jones@colostate.edu. The entry form can be downloaded from the CSU Crops Testing website at <https://csucrops.agsci.colostate.edu/sorghum>. You can also fill out the form, print and mail it with your payment to Colorado State University. We ask that entries please be treated with fungicide and herbicide safeners so that we may avoid pathogen and weed issues.
